DAUGHTER KILLS HER MOTHER

Gladys Meyers Mistook Her Mother
For a Robber on Train

Philadelphia, Nov. 13.—Mrs. Rappe Meyers, wife of the proprietor of the Rappe hotel, Greensburg, Pa., was shot by her daughter Gladys Elizabeth Meyers, in mistake for a burglar in a sleeping car on a Pennsylvania railroad train, bound for New York about 5.30 o'clock this morning. She died a short time later in a Trenton, N. J., hospital. The shooting occurred when the train was passing Croydon, Pa., just this side of Bristol, Pa., and near Trenton.

Miss Meyers and W. R. Culbert, 60 years of age of Lynchburg, Va., were detained by the Trenton police during the day, but were released to-night. It was thought at first that Culbert was concerned in some way with the shooting, as he was found with Miss Meyers at the side of the wounded woman a few seconds after the sound of the shot aroused the other passengers in the car and brought the porter and conductor. Later he explained that he had been standing on the front platform of the car next in the rear and had run in when he heard the shot.

The Trenton police say they are satisfied the shooting was an accident and that Mr. Culbert went to the aid of a person who he had reason to believe was in distress.

Miss Meyers who is about 20 years old, was on the way to purchase a trousseau for her wedding to J. Blair Dillard of Salem, Va., a druggist. She had a basket of jewels which she was taking to New York to have repaired and mended, and when she heard her mother reentering their section, after Mrs. Meyers had gone for a few minutes to the dressing room, she took her revolver from under her pillow and fired thinking a burglar was after the gems. She was half awake at the time.

Miss Meyers' brother and her fiancé are on their way from Salem and will arrive in Trenton early tomorrow morning. Her father is also en route from Greensburg to meet his daughter. He is accompanied by an attorney. Miss Meyers made the following statement:

"My mother and I left our home in Greensburg, Pa., to visit my fiancé J. Blair Dillard, for a short time, then we went to see my brother, J. Rappe Meyers, Jr., at Salem, Va., where he is in the lumber business. Last night at 5.45 o'clock my mother and I took a train for Salem, Va., en route for a lower berth.

I was awakened by my mother who informed me she was going to the wash room, and while she was absent I dozed off to sleep. I was suddenly awakened from my sleep by seeing the curtains parted and some one crawling into the berth. I always slept with a revolver under my pillow and knowing that the porter had seen my jewelry I pulled the revolver from under the pillow and fired, and was horrified to hear my mother scream and see her stagger into the smoker, where I found her.

"Then I shouted for some one to get a doctor and some whiskey. A gentleman came forward who I afterward learned was William R. Culbert, of Lynchburg, Va., and offered his services.

"My mother and I were always on

ASK FOR THREE BATTLESHIPS

Increase in Number Made to Offset Reduction This Year.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Because Congress appropriated last year for but one dreadnought the construction of three great battleships will be asked by the navy department it was learned today.

Sec. Meyer, Asst. Sec. Winthrop and the various chiefs of the navy department spent today in closed conference discussing the salient features to be embodied in the annual report, which will be submitted to Congress soon after the session convenes next month.

Recommendations for the number of cruisers, and other vessels will be in accord with the battleship policy, and increased number being asked to offset the reduction made in last year's naval appropriation bill.

good terms, and I considered her my best friend. We were on our way to New York to do some shopping in anticipation of my brother's wedding on Christmas eve, and my own to June, to Mr. Dillard.

"After the shooting the porter came to me and wanted to take the revolver from me forcibly. I told him I would give the revolver to him but not for him to shoot. This revolver I purchased from H. S. Brown Pittsburgh, Pa., for $14. My brother and my mother were with me at the time of the purchase.

RAILROAD TANGLE MAY END TODAY

Canadian Officials and President
Mellen Expected to Confer in New York on Proposed Pact

Boston, Nov. 13.—President E. J. Chamberlin of the Grand Trunk railway admitted today that his road contemplated making an arrangement with the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, according to a Montreal dispatch to the Boston news bureau. President Chamberlin is quoted as follows:

"No negotiations we have had had any bearing on the suspension of construction work in New England, which has been due entirely to financial stringency. I do not deny that we have had some negotiations with the New Haven people but there has been no agreement anywhere near being made with them.

"You can say to the people of New England that they have no cause for alarm. If we ever make any arrangements with the New Haven road, it will be such an arrangement as will give them at least equal or better connections and facilities for doing business with the Grand Trunk and the Central Vermont than can be had in any other way, and unless such an arrangement can be made there will not be any agreement eliminating the proposed construction.

"If we make any arrangement with the New Haven it is going to give New England better facilities than they would have by any parallel line we could construct, and unless we can make such an arrangement we won't make any at all with them.

"I never favor paralleling anybody else's line if satisfactory traffic or trackage arrangements can be made," continued Mr. Chamberlin. "What negotiations we have had thus far have not advanced to such a stage that I can say whether or not the building of our proposed lines will become unnecessary. But it is very likely that if there is too much talk about it now, it will defeat the whole thing.

"Nothing short of a twenty-five year agreement would be satisfactory.

"There is no truth whatever in the statements that suspension of construction work was influenced from London under pressure of the Canadian government. It is no more true that it was brought about by influences under pressure of Morgan or Mellen influences.

"In my opinion, if the Italian war which has influenced the money tightness that has caused this suspension of construction, goes on for the next two months, it will close up every bit of

ASSESSORS STATE THAT NO FRICTION EXISTS

Their Position Regarding the Ellery
Twist Drill Tax Matter

The following letter from the Board of Assessors of Taxes is self-explanatory:

"Mr. Editor—We notice in your issue of last night that among other things Mr. Ellery of the Ellery Drill & Tool Co. says that there is lack of harmony in the different departments in City Hall and that the Board of Assessors would not carry out the wishes of the City Council. We would say to Mr. Ellery that the most cordial and friendly relations exist between the Board of Assessors and every department of the City Government and that we intend that these relations shall continue to exist and we have no doubt that any other department will so tell Mr. Ellery.

"Mr. Ellery says he does not wish to evade paying taxes but is only waiting to find out how much the taxes are. Mr. Ellery was taxed on the amount sent in on his inventory and was sent a tax bill at the same time as all tax payers were.

"After receiving his bill Mr. Ellery appeared before the Board of Assessors and asked to have his taxes abated, which after full consideration the Board found they could not do by law.

"Mr. Ellery states that the Assessors refused to act on the 'intention' of the Council. No intention of what they were going to do was expressed by the Council when the matter of exemption was first brought up the latter part of March, 1912, and no definite action was taken until nearly two months after the tax levy for 1912 had been made up and after the passage of the exemption by the Council it was not approved by the Mayor and has not since received his approval. It was therefore impossible for the Board of Assessors to know what the 'intention' of the Council was when on April 1 no such 'intention' had been formulated or expressed by the Mayor and Council.

"On the same night that the Ellery Drill & Tool Co. were granted the exemption the McElwain Company were

A Clever Answer Turneth a Prize Your Way.

Some of our best patrons are in a keen competition for the prize exhibited in our show window this week.

It is such a beautiful bookcase that naturally the one who sees it covets its possession.

Further, this contest is developing such clever and witty titles that before the prize is finally awarded, we expect a greater portion of the population will have deposited their ballots.

You do not have to be a customer of the store, nor even make a purchase at the store to secure a ballot on which to write your answer to the question

WHAT DOES BABL SAY?

The contest closes November 15 and all answers must be in the hands of the Answer Editor not later than that date.

The prize winner will be announced a week later.

Pumpelly, Yale Halfback, the Latest Sensation at New Haven.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 14.—The Yale eleven is now ready to tackle Princeton at Princeton, Nov. 16. Several changes have been made in the lineup and Eli coaches surely believe the team will defeat the Tigers. Left guard is the only position in doubt. Arnold who started in that place against Brown was hardly strong enough for the task and Cooney Cooney, who replaced him was a whirlwind. Cooney is almost sure to get the place. Pendleton made good at right guard, although he plays the position like a tackle, the place to which he has always been accustomed. Pumpelly made it clear that he is a coming star. He will break into the backfield as first string choice, supplanting Philbin although some of the coaches think that Pumpelly, is most valuable as a reserve drop and place kicker as well as line forcer.

A MUSICAL TREAT

It has always been a matter of satisfaction to John Phillip Sousa to know that he has the confidence of the concert going public, for, no matter in what part of the world Sousa and his band have appeared, in large cities or smaller towns, the most eminent soloists have been heard. One never hears of a Sousa Band, it has always been the Sousa band. Consequently when a Sousa concert is announced, it has been received by all with confidence in the character of the entertainment. Sousa's personality is unmistakable, and his face and figure are familiar everywhere. Of course as time goes on nature will cause grey hairs to appear in spite of the fact that Sousa's wonderful energy and grace with the vim and dash of his conducting, continue with unabated vigor. For years Sousa has had a following unequalled by any other man, and when he appears here on Wednesday afternoon, November 20, at Portsmouth Theatre he will be received as an old friend. The soloists with the band are Miss Virginia Root, soprano, Miss Nicolene Zedeler, violinist, and Herbert L. Clarke, cornetist.

15 CENT "DANDERINE" FOR FALLING HAIR AND DANDRUFF--GROWS HAIR

Don't Pay 50 Cents for Worthless Hair Tonics--Use Old, Reliable "Danderine"--Get Results

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp--of dandruff--that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die--then the hair falls out fast.

A little Danderine tonight--now--anytime--will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application you will say it was the best investment you ever made. Your hair will immediately take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks use, you will actually see a lot of fine downy hair, new hair growing all over the scalp.

In time to save the bridge. The fire started in the middle span and burned about fifteen feet. An inspection by one of the bridge inspectors who came from Boston on the midnight train, was made and it is not thought that traffic will be held up.

CHILD'S SCHOOL LUNCH

The power of the child to grow, mentally as well as physically, depends chiefly on his food. Children must have a relatively larger proportion of protein and fat in the dietary than their elders. The baby receives his from milk and cereals, but the older child needs in addition to these eggs, meat, and butter. Much of the pallor and stunted growth of some children is largely attributable to the lack of these very foods. As carbohydrates, sugar and starches, furnish the cheapest form of food, they are almost never found wanting and oftentimes are used to excess. The child's craving for sweets is a natural one and should be gratified; but they should be eaten at the close of the meal. Milk, eggs, and meat are sources for furnishing mineral matter but the chief value of fruit and vegetables lies in this food constituent. Never allow a child to go to school without a proper breakfast, of which a cereal, served with sugar and rich milk or cream should be a principal dish. Do not forget that digestive processes go on very quickly in childhood, which makes the school luncheon important. In these days of Thermos bottles, many children are provided with hot soup, coffee or cocoa. Whatever else goes with the luncheon basket, sandwiches must hold first place. Cold, thinly sliced meat or chopped meat may be put between the slices of buttered bread. Most children enjoy hard-boiled or stuffed eggs, and small glass jars with shelled nuts and raisins offer a change. Fresh fruit should be provided, and sweet chocolate by way of variety. Woman's Home Companion.

Second in the Series of Inter-Club Matches Played.

The P. A. C. took a substantial lead over the Elks in their inter-city matches the second of which was played on Wednesday evening at the P. A. C. on Court street.

Pool and billiards were the matches for last evening and here the P. A. C. sharks out played those of the Elks in these games. In the billiard matches the P. A. C. won all four points of the matches, two, those of Smart and Mowse and Newick and Washburn being very close.

In the pool matches Clarke defeated Harry Mowse in a finely played match, winning by three points. This game was enjoyed by a good number of the members.

Following the games refreshments were served. The third and final meet between the two clubs will be played on Wednesday of next week when the bowling and pitch and cribbage will be finished.

The results of the play of last evening was,

DECISION AGAINST POLICE OFFICERS RENDERED

Judge Mitchell of the Superior Bench has handed down a decision in the case of Quinn vs the City of Portsmouth in favor of the plaintiff, and the contention raised by the plaintiff that it was illegal for a police officer to draw any money from the city, other than his regular salary.

The case arose out of the dog license case. Officer Burke and McCaffery were employed by the city clerk to chase up the dogs reported un-censed and they did the work on their own time, that is, during the day, as both men are on the night force. Charles R. Quinn protested against their receiving any extra compensation, owing to the fact that as police officers they could not receive any money for extra service.

The case was heard before Judge Mitchell in Superior Court in the present session, and Judge Mitchell rendered his decision on Wednesday. As the case stands the officers will lose all of their extra time put in.

tributes to their attractiveness if one has no interest in the land and is ignorant of the association, is the wild carrot now in full bloom and whitening many fields. A common name for it is "queen's lace, and it is not an inapt designation of its delicate beauty. It is much in request for decorative purposes, and lends itself to green and white color schemes as few other flowers of the field do. But, alas! it is a monopolist, and the farmer entertains a righteous hatred of it. Its roots run deep into the ground and unless unrelenting war is made upon it will come to occupy the meadow and other fields to the exclusion of other crops. In some states laws have been passed requiring owners of premises where it grows to have it cut before the seed ripens, and in Connecticut towns officials are warning the citizens to promptly conform to the provisions of that statute. Even cutting is a temporary check. Such is its grip upon the soil that only the eradication of the plant will do any permanent good.—Boston Transcript.

ONLY ONE

The Record in Portsmouth is a Unique One

If the reader has a "bad back" or any kidney ills and is looking for an effective kidney medicine, better depend on the remedy endorsed by people you know. Doan's Kidney Pills have given great satisfaction in such cases. Portsmouth citizens testify to this. Here is a case of it:

Mrs. C. H. Muchmore, 130 Bennett St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I do not believe I would be alive today had not Doan's Kidney Pills come to my attention when they did. I had Bright's disease and suffered for two or three years from soreness and stiffness in my kidneys. I often had such acute pains through my back that I was obliged to stay in bed. The doctors gave me all kinds of medicine, but I did not receive any real benefit until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Philbrick's Drug Store. I am glad to say that this preparation brought me prompt relief and eventually cured me. Several years have passed since then, but I still have a high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. I have told many other people what this remedy did for me." For sale by all dealers. Price 60 cents. Foster-McIlburn, Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

President Taft's Courage.

The splendid courage of President Taft, which has never failed him in all the trying and difficult tasks which he has carried through successfully for his country, surely will not desert him now in the hour of defeat, which comes from within his party and not without, and through the instrumentality of his one-time friend. There are few thoughtful people who would not infinitely rather accept President Taft's defeat than that so complete and so richly deserved which has been visited upon Theodore Roosevelt. No one has ever questioned President Taft's personal honor for a moment. The worst any one can say of him is that he lacks the political instinct. The measure of the national esteem for him was greatly increased by the fact that thousands upon thousands of republicans who were perfectly satisfied with President Taft's administration feared that he could not be re-elected by a divided party and voted for Wilson, to make more sure Theodore Roosevelt's defeat. The majority of the people are determined that Roosevelt shall never again occupy the executive office, and he would be much wiser if he accepted his stinging defeat as final. —Manchester Mirror.

Politics Should Be Eliminated in City Affairs.

It ought to be possible here in Portsmouth to eliminate politics in city affairs. The Herald's suggestion a few days ago has caused much favorable comment and there is likely to be a move made looking to that end. Portsmouth should pull herself together and eliminate personal differences and work for Portsmouth. The Herald believes that with a united Portsmouth much good can be accomplished.

Grand Trunk May Benefit Portsmouth.

With the abandonment of work on the proposed Grand Trunk railroad extensions isn't it possible that some good may come to Portsmouth. President E. J. Chamberlain of the Grand Trunk knows all about Portsmouth harbor and if his road is to use the B. & M. we may see something doing here. Why not? We have the harbor.

Why Not Get Together?

Who is the Moses that can lead the republicans of the State to get together and save the party? There ought to be some way for the party which has a safe majority in the legislature to bury all personal differences and elect republicans to office. Why not a conference, gentlemen, and see if the party can be made a unit.

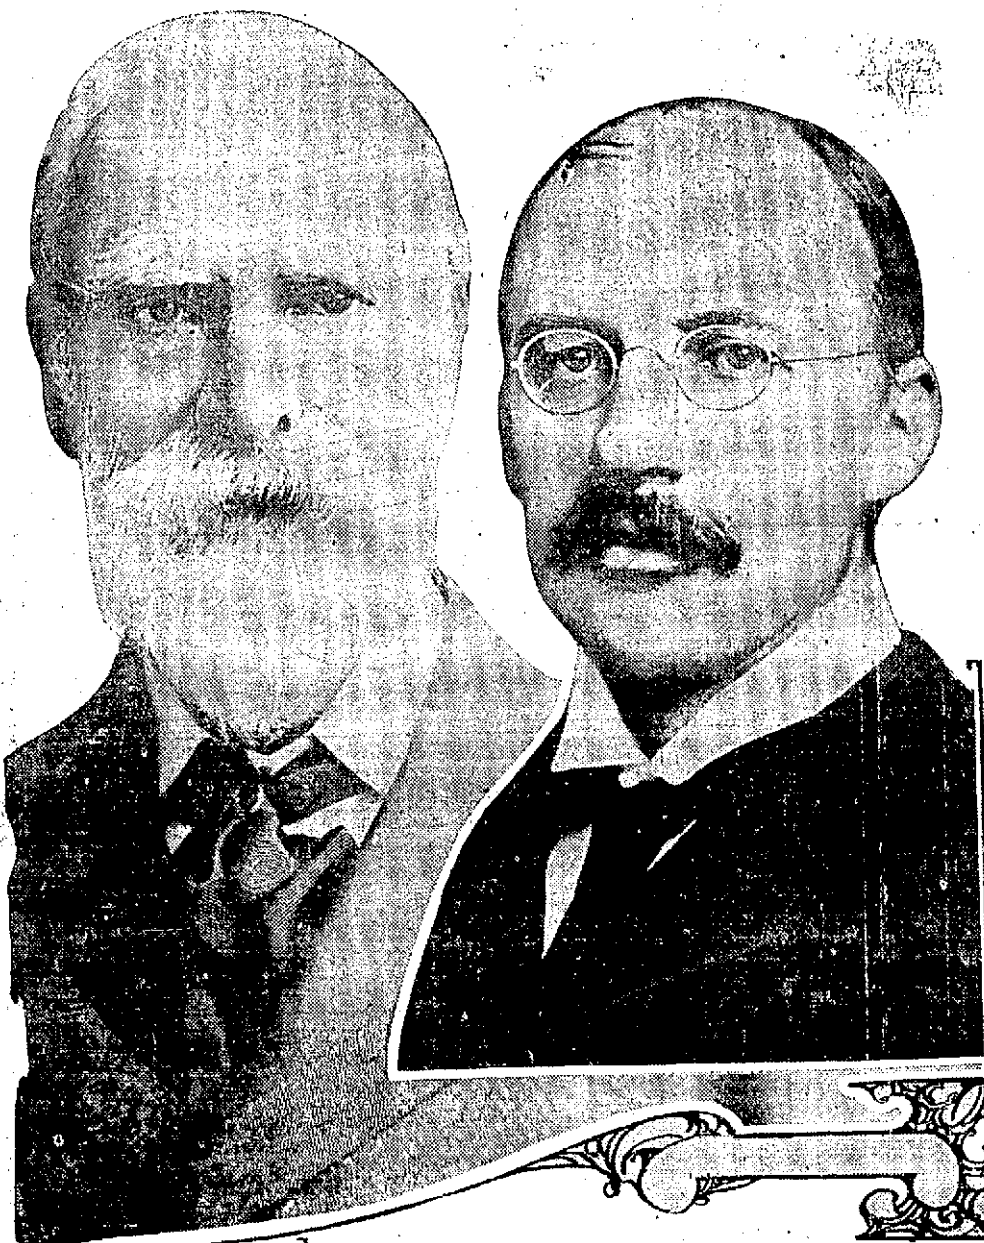

The Springfield Republican remarks that the income tax amendment to the federal Constitution seems likely now to be ratified by the necessary number of states. Only two more are needed to make the three-fourths required, and not less than ten states—Delaware, Florida, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New Mexico, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia and Wyoming—are still to act on the question. The next New Jersey legislature will be democratic in both branches and Gov. Wilson should be able to persuade it to take favorable action. New Mexico is another state that should get into line. Delaware and Pennsylvania, perhaps, may now regard the amendment in a more kindly spirit. Certainly the influence of the new party in Pennsylvania should be exerted strongly in support of this progressive measure for the strengthening of the power of the national government in taxation.

The Chicago Record-Herald remarks that there is an anti-third term organization in the country, and it announces that the work of putting through an amendment making any kind of third term constitutionally impossible is to be carried on with vigor. On the other hand, democratic politicians, with 1916 in mind, are already beginning to discourage the idea of limiting the President to a single term, in spite of the declaration of the Baltimore platform in favor of a single term. Observers in Washington predict the failure of any effort to deal constitutionally with the question of presidential terms.

The French economist, Edmund Thery, warns European investors to display great caution, saying present conditions warrant fears as fully as conditions in 1870 at the outbreak of the Franco-Prussian war. He notes that at that time Europe's financial capitalization totaled 200 milliards of francs of which 30 milliards were in gold; while at present capitalization is 750 milliards of francs, with only 40 milliards in gold; and that tremendous fall in security values threatens if political horizon does not clear.

The Pittsburgh Post tersely remarks that just as expected, the cabinet makers step in and relieve the President-elect from the necessity of choosing his official family.

James Bryce, Retiring British Ambassador, And Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, His Successor.

The Right Hon. James Bryce, who has just resigned as British ambassador to the United States, is seventy-four years old. His retirement is due to a desire to devote himself to literature, in which field he already has earned a considerable reputation. Mr. Bryce's successor will be Sir Cecil Arthur Spring-Rice, now British minister at Stockholm. Sir Cecil, now fifty-five years of age, was created K. C. M. G. in 1906. In 1886 he was acting third secretary at Washington and was appointed acting second secretary at Washington, to act as secretary to the British delegate to the International Maritime conference, Aug. 27, 1889. After serving for a time at Brussels and Tokyo he was transferred to Washington in 1893. He was chargé d'affaires at Teheran in 1900 and minister to Persia in 1900-08. In the illustration Mr. Bryce is at the left.

Current Comment.

Mistakes in Extra Congress Sessions

Almost from the beginning of his term, President Taft has had Congress more or less continuously on his hands. The Sixty First congress held three sessions; the Sixty Second has held two, a third assembly next month. The extra session of 1909 occupied an executive time until the short term was almost at hand, and it was in this session, that the seeds of discontent with his administration were sown. The extra session of 1911 simply amplified opportunity of the opposition, and kept the President busy until the summer was well spent. In both Congresses the so called short session proved a misnomer. The truth is, Mr. Taft undertook to hasten legislation that might well have waited. This is true even of the tariff and of reciprocity. His recommendations, his policies, his controversies with Congress, his successes and his failures have been kept to incessantly before the public for his own welfare. The country would have been glad at any time during the past four years of a respite from legislation beyond that absolutely necessary.

It is understood that those who are named as Mr. Wilson's advisers are urging him, immediately upon the assumption of his duties to call a special session of Congress. The plea is made that since his party platform promised tariff reform, the sooner this is begun the better. That does not follow that it is worth while to note that thus far Mr. Wilson has given his advisers no encouragement on this score. Before he speaks in this subject with any definiteness, he will probably have determined to his own satisfaction, whether those who are most loudly demanding tariff revision in his own party are really looking for this or for political capital. He is a historian and he knows what the cry for tariff reform on both sides of the house have always amounted to. He knows what Morrison, Mills and Wilson had to go through. He remembers undoubtedly the experience of Grover Cleveland, his only democratic predecessor since the Civil War.

Assuming all this he must know that if his administration is to be identified with genuine tariff reform it will have to come out through partisan enthusiasm, or fervor, or byplay but through calm and serious consideration. He has assured the country that it has nothing to fear; he has assured business that it has nothing to fear; the only thing the country has reason to fear is the worst, from any change in the political complexion of the government, is not corrective legislation, whether it relates to the tariff or anything else but the manner in which it may be carried through. Mr. Wilson, student of public affairs as he is, knows this. He may not always be able to check extreme radical tendencies among his party supporters, but he is in a position to discourage them. Perhaps he can discourage them best at the very outset of his administration by refusing to satisfy the emotionalists with a special session. If he does not refuse, insisting and properly that the tariff is not a matter to be trifled with under excitement, he will begin his term more wisely than did Mr. Taft.—Christian Science Monitor.

LAXATIVE FOR OLD PEOPLE—"CASCARETS"

What glasses are to weak eyes, Cascarets are to weak bowels—a 10-cent box will truly amaze you.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles. So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a laxative can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets and they cost only 10 cents a box at drug store. They work while you sleep.

PERTINENT POINTERS

Use the ironing fire for preparing stocks for soups or baking puddings.

If windows stick rub a little melted lard on the sash cord between the frame and casting.

Marks can be removed from a light carpet with a good carpet soap, and applied without taking up the carpet.

colored carpets show dusty foot-marks far more than a light carpet or one well covered as to pattern. This should be remembered in choosing dining room carpets.

A charming nursery screen can be covered with the prints that are small child loves best.

Celery should be neither trimmed or washed, but packed heads up, in long, deep boxes which then should be filled with dry earth.

It is said that a single polishing at the bootblack's stand when shoes are new will keep them in first class condition and much longer than if they are worn first and polished afterward.

To keep the kitchen range fire when you are not using it take the stove lids off a little while before putting on fresh coal then put the lids on only half way.

DISCUSSING THE BOY.

Mr. Monahan Believes in Allowing No Idleness.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Schoolboys should never be permitted in their waking moments to be idle, according to A. C. Monahan, specialist in rural education in the United States bureau of education, who addressed the first conference here on the "Boy and the Home." They should be kept consistently at work, according to Mr. Monahan, especially in active labor outside of school hours. Because of this practice the educator pointed out, country lads were leaders in their class work and the hands that milked the cows and did the constructive work on the farm were the same hands that grasped the opportunities of life.

"Such work will illustrate the lessons he receives from books," said Mr. Monahan, "and will give a purpose to his whole education."

In advocating exercises for the growing boy, Dr. William C. Woodward, health officer of the District of Columbia, declared that there was just as much nourishment in fresh air as in bread, butter or beef steaks. The symposium on the "boy" will continue for several days.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT.

Senator Swanson of Virginia Begins Preliminary Work.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Senator Swanson of Virginia has begun the preliminary work of the commission appointed by the past session of congress to investigate the feasibility of the improvement of the roads of the country. The appointment of the commission grew out of the general agitation for better roads, and the Virginia senator expresses his conviction that it would mark the beginning of great improvement in the wagon highways of the country.

tion for better roads, and the Virginia senator expresses his conviction that it would mark the beginning of great improvement in the wagon highways of the country.

The house provided $2,000,000 for good roads work but the senate refused to acquiesce, and appropriated $500,000 for a preliminary investigation. The commission then was appointed, composed of Senators Swanson, Bourne, Penrose, Gronna and Overman, and Representatives Shickeloford of Missouri, Lee of Georgia, McGillicuddy of Maine, Madden of Illinois and Austin of Tennessee.

WORK FOR ALIENISTS.

St. Denis Girl Pleads Guilty to Attempted Murder Charge.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 14.—A commission of alienists was appointed by the court yesterday to examine Gladous

O. St. Denis, a 15-year-old Lowell girl, after she had pleaded guilty to a charge of attempting to murder her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Jordan of Lowell by putting poison in their coffee.

The girl had originally entered a plea of not guilty and the trial was in progress when she changed it.

WOMAN IN THE CABINET.

Movement With This In View Starts at Denver.

Denver, Col., Nov. 14.—At a meeting of the Why club, an organization of business and professional women, a movement was launched Tuesday to have a woman appointed a member of President-elect Wilson's cabinet.

The club met for the purpose of celebrating the entry of four new states into the column of woman suffrage. Mrs. Mary C. C. Bradford, elected state superintendent of instruction at the recent election in an address said that women now poll large enough votes to be entitled to a place in the cabinet. At the next meeting of a club a nation-wide movement will be planned to bring about the appointment of a woman to the cabinet.

QUININE? NO! PAPER'S BEST FOR BAD COLD

First Dose of Paper's Cold Compound ends grippe misery.

It is a positive fact that a dose of Paper's Cold Compound taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken, will end the Grippe and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach, limbs or any part of the body.

It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous, catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Take this wonderful Compound as directed with the knowledge that there is nothing else in the world which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after effects as a 25 cent package of Paper's Cold Compound, which any druggist can supply—accept no substitute, contains no quinine. Belongs in every home. Tastes nice—acts gently.

HAS NOT YET BEEN DEFEATED

Dover High Wins Interscholastic Championship With Ease.

The football championship of the Southeastern New Hampshire Interscholastic League is conceded to the Dover High School eleven.

The team has not lost a game this season and has been tied but once, and that early in the season.

In the league Dover has won two games from Portsmouth, two from Exeter, and played a tie game with Rochester.

In addition to the interscholastic league contests, the Dover eleven has defeated the strong Biddeford, Me., High School team, Berwick academy and Newmarket High School.

Team work is the secret of the success of the Dover boys. The players have worked together faithfully and have sacrificed opportunities for individual glory for the good of the team.

The possibilities for a championship eleven were demonstrated in the opening game of the season when the Portsmouth High School team, champions of the interscholastic league last year were easily defeated.

EXETER LETTER

Funeral services for Mrs. Gertrude A. Greenleaf, aged 21 years, were held Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the cemetery chapel. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. S. H. Dana, pastor of the Phillips church, and the bearers, Samuel S., Eugene, Harry and Clarence, all members of Sagamore lodge, I. O. O. F., and also of the Friendship lodge of Rehoboth, of which Mrs. Greenleaf was also a member.

She was the daughter of Andrew Brown, born in Haverhill, Mass., in September, 1890, and had been a resident of Exeter for about three years. She married Delbert Greenleaf in 1909. A greater part of her life was spent in Haverhill and Wakefield, Mass., and also in Brentwood. Besides the widow, she is survived by her grandparents, and a sister, Mrs. Frank L. Fuller.

A part of Lincoln street is now being resurfaced by Highway Agent Newell S. Tilton, as the work which has been in progress on Water street during the past few weeks has been completed. The new piece of highway is a great improvement over the old one and the needs of a like one on Lincoln street has been long in demand. When this is done, and the job is not likely to be a long one, the streets will have had a fair amount of improvement this autumn.

The Sportsman's club held a banquet Wednesday evening at the Hotel Whittier, Hampton, about thirty of the members making the trip to that town by automobile.

Beginning Sunday, Nov. 17, there will be a forty hours' devotion begin at the St. Michael's church. The pastor, the Rev. John E. Finen, will probably be assisted by the Rev. Fr. Moran of Westville and Newfields.

The Thursday club of the Phillips church met Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, the members being entertained by a tea at the residence of Mrs. Herbert C. Day.

James P. Webber of the Phillips Exeter academy faculty gave a Shakespearean recital at the chapel, Wednesday evening, reading from "Hamlet."

FIGHT OVER FORTUNE.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Controversy over a fortune, amassed from gold long hidden beneath the snows of Alaska has come to the supreme court for settlement.

ment. On one side was the Swedish evangelist mission church of America; on the other was Peter H. Anderson, once its missionary to the far north. In 1897 Anderson had finished his missionary training for the church, at Chicago, partly through his own means and partly through means furnished by the church. It is said. He was sent to Alaska and during the next two years he made prospecting excursions into the wilds, finally "striking it rich" and ever since the question has been debated as to whom the claim belonged.

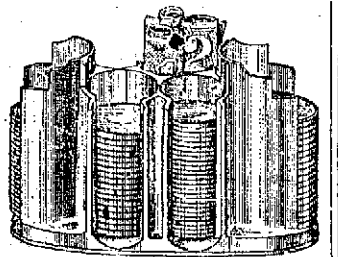

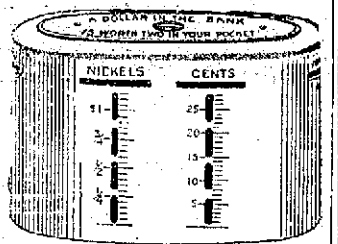

At one time, it is said, an agreement was reached whereby Anderson gave $25,000 to the church school, $4000 for expenses of theological students, and $25,000 for a hospital, in consideration of a promise of the church not to sue him for the mine. Certain members protested, and the whole question finally got into the state court in northern Illinois. It was from this last decision that he has appealed to the supreme court.

If you have ideas—if you can think—we will show you the secrets of this fascinating new profession. Positively no experience or literary excellence necessary. No "flowery language" is wanted.

The demand for photoplays is practically unlimited. The big film manufacturers are "moving heaven and earth" in their attempts to get enough good plots to supply the ever increasing demand. They are offering $100. and more, for single scenarios, or written ideas.

We have received many letters from the film manufacturers, such as VITAGRAPH, EDISON, ESSA-NAY, LUBIN, SOLAX, IMP, REX, REJANCE, CHAMPION, COMET, MELIES, ETC., urging us to send photoplays to them. We want more writers and we'll gladly teach you the secrets of success.

We are selling photoplays written by people who "never before wrote a line for publication."

Perhaps we can do the same for you. If you can think of only one good idea every week, and will write it out as directed by us, and it sells for only $25, a low figure.

YOU WILL EARN $100 MONTHLY FOR SPARE TIME WORK.

OFFICER BEASLEY LEAVES POLICE DEPARTMENT

Police Officer John Beasley, has resigned his position in the police department and when he came in for his night relief at 12.30 this morning he took off his uniform and informed Captain Burke that he was sick of the job and was going to quit and he went home.

It is not known whether Beasley had previously handed his resignation to Marshall Burwell.

Officer Beasley has been dissatisfied with the position, and expressed a desire some time ago to get out, and after his trouble of Saturday night he has been anxious to get away. The case of the young man, interfering with Beasley in Saturday night's trouble, was settled in court on Wednesday when it was not pressed by agreement.

CONTAGION NOT INFECTION

For many years the idea of infection in disease has gradually merged into contagion. The International Congress of Hygiene, which held its sessions in Washington last week would seem to have definitely settled that disease conveyance is always by contagion and not infection. It is contact either direct or indirect, with a patient suffering from a particular disease that causes the occurrence of that disease in a second patient.

Much used to be said of infected places. Swamps, low grounds, or marshy surroundings, were thought to be the cause of disease. The night air had a bad reputation as a form-enter of illness of different kinds. Now we know that it is the mosquito to which directly carries various diseases and acts as an intermediate host between one human victim and another. In the same way other carriers of disease have been found. Flies, fleas, ticks, rats and various forms of parasites are responsible for disease distribution.

Even among human beings certain individuals prove to be carriers of infectious material. They may be susceptible themselves or have acquired immunity from the disease, but can convey it to others. Always when a communicable disease occurs it can be traced to a preceding case with which they have been contact directly or indirectly. This is now the accepted scientific teaching of the world's medical authorities.—New York Herald.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Jane Martin Reding.

Mrs. Jane Reding, widow of Hon. John R. Reding died at her residence on State street Wednesday afternoon after being an invalid for the past five years. She was 55 years of age.

Mrs. Reding has been confined to her room and practically to her bed for a long period and has been lovingly ministered to by her companion or many years, Miss Emily Bracelin. Mrs. Reding was a woman of rare personal charm and of many interests in health. Her loving and kindly disposition is well remembered by those who years ago as little folks attending the Peabody school. She was the last of her family surviving three sisters and two brothers. Six nieces and nephews are living but their homes are widely scattered. She was of late years identified with the St. Johns Church.

Her constant companion was Miss Bracelin who has been a member of

Frank B. Parsley.

At his home, 45 Cass street, on Wednesday afternoon occurred the death of Frank B. Parsley, for the past 15 years a resident of this city. Mr. Parsley was born in Stratford, this state, on March 16, 1849. He came of an old American family and his ancestors helped to carve the colony out of the wilderness and to build the state of New Hampshire after the Revolution. He was himself a veteran of the Civil War and serving with the 16th Maine regiment. He participated in the charge of the Fifth corps that broke the Confederate lines at Five Forks, virtually the deciding battle of the war. He married in 1874 Annie L. Smith, a native of Ossipee, and she survives. The other living member of his immediate family are his son, Edward J. Parsley of Concord, and his brother, Charles A. Parsley, of this city.

construction work in this country, and probably in the United States.

Regarding Mr. Chamberlin's statement the following was issued by the New Haven office:

"Mr. Mellen has only to say in connection with the newspaper stories regarding the relations of the New Haven and Grand Trunk, that he has known Mr. Chamberlin for many years and does not believe for one moment he (Mr. Chamberlin) would make any statement regarding this or any other matter that was not strictly true. Whatever statement, therefore, Mr. Chamberlin may make regarding the present or future relations of the two companies may be relied upon without question and it is unnecessary for him (Mr. Mellen) to confirm or otherwise."

Vice President E. H. Fitzhugh of the Grand Trunk went to Providence today in connection with the railroad question.

In New Hampshire.

Speaking of conditions in New Hampshire, Mr. Chamberlin said he knew much of the situation there, and felt that the state was not over enthusiastic about giving a charter to the Grand Trunk.

"I suppose I ought not to say that," he added, "for I should not give aid or comfort to Mr. Mellen, but the fact remains that we have no New Hampshire charter at this time."

"Going down into Boston from the Vermont line at White River, we should have to parallel some Boston & Maine lines in a territory that isn't exceedingly rich in a railroad sense. From White River to Concord, the old Northern railroad, from Concord to Nashua, the old Concord & Montreal, from Nashua into Boston, and over the old Boston & Lowell."

"To parallel this route in certain sections would be cruel and expensive. The territory is apparently served well as it stands. To cut into it would naturally be to reduce the local revenue of the other fellow, and that would most certainly be cruel and unjust to the women—and the men, too—who are holders of stock in these leased New Hampshire lines."

"So that, whatever arrangements may be made with the New Haven, and you tell me negotiations are pending will be in the nature of a traffic agreement for your Canadian business between White River Junction in Vermont down through New Hampshire to Boston?"

"That is exactly the situation at this minute," President Chamberlin said, "for there is nothing in the negotiations now pending, and there can be nothing affecting the Southern New England—the line from Portland to Providence—in any way."

Haven't Backed Down.
"And another thing, I feel that there are some in New England who feel that the Grand Trunk has 'gone back' on them."

"Exactly the reverse is true. You recall that we started out to build our own lines into New England—why? Because we could not make satisfactory traffic arrangements with the Boston & Maine from White River Junction through Concord, Manchester and Lowell to Boston.

"In that situation it became our duty to go ahead and build for ourselves, but suppose we can now make just the best arrangement possible. What now is our duty to New England? Should we be pig-headed? Should we go ahead and parallel this road? Would it not be at the expense of the public and no great benefit except to have two railroads there?"

"I insist that we are working now for the greatest benefit of the people of Boston and New England. Five years from now this will generally be admitted. We have not and shall not go back on the people who have been so good to us. Everything possible will be done to safeguard every interest of the people."

"Remember that while I admit that negotiations are pending, that we are trying to get together, the fact is that no agreement has been arrived at. We may be unable to agree. In that case the Grand Trunk will go ahead."

Corn Syrup Caramels.

For corn syrup caramels, boil to gether two cupfuls of granulated sugar, a cupful of good cream, one and three-fourths cupfuls of corn syrup and a cupful of butter, and after a few minutes gradually add another cupful of cream without letting the syrup stop boiling for a second. When the syrup will form a substantial ball in the fingers after cooling in cold water, add a teaspoonful of vanilla and a cupful of chopped nut meats. Turn into bread pans that have been oiled and when nearly cold turn out of the tins, cut into cubes and wrap in waxed paper. It sometimes takes an hour to do the boiling before the right stage is reached, but the caramels are as good as the best.

Nut Meats Cake.

One-half cup butter, one and one-half cups sugar, three eggs, two and one-half cups flour, one and one-half teaspoonfuls baking powder, one-half cup milk and one cup of any preferred nut meats. Rub the butter and sugar to a light white cream; add the eggs, beaten a little; then the flour, into which has been mixed the baking powder and saltspoon of salt; then add milk and beat well; lastly the nuts. Bake in paper-lined tin in steady oven.

Nuts Steamed.

My father's lunch consists largely of fruits and nuts, and it falls to me to crack and salt the nuts for him, says a contributor to Good Housekeeping. Crack about a cupful of pecan meats and have discovered a very easy way to salt them. Place a saucer of nut meats over the steam of a boiling kettle and cover them liberally with salt, stirring them carefully in it. Remove them from the saucer and pack at once in a box or bottle. My father pronounces them delicious.

Mocha Frosting.

One-half cupful of butter, one and one-fourth cupfuls confectioner's sugar, one-fourth cup flour, one cup granulated sugar, two eggs one and one-half cupfuls scalding milk, one-fourth cupful of strong coffee, three squares chocolate. Cream butter and sugar and confectioner's sugar. Beat eggs, add granulated sugar, flour, milk, coffee and chocolate. Cook in double boiler ten minutes.

MACARONI AND CHEESE

DISH NOT SERVED AS OFTEN AS IT DESERVES.

Excellent for Luncheon or for the Evening Meal Without Meat—Italian Method of Preparation Somewhat Too Rich.

Macaroni with cheese is the most usual combination. This is a dish sufficiently nourishing to be served for luncheon or for an evening meal without meat. It is too heavy to be served with other starchy vegetables, as potatoes or beans. The foreign way of cooking macaroni is to boil about twenty minutes. Drain and return to the saucepan with enough gravy or rich soup stock to nearly cover. Allow this to simmer until the gravy has been absorbed. Prepare a cupful of grated Parmesan and other cheese mixed. Put one-half with the macaroni until the cheese is melted. Add the remainder and a good-sized lump of butter. Stir the macaroni around in the pan in one direction until the cheese is thoroughly melted. Serve hot. Americans, preferring a less rich dish, simply boil the macaroni, drain and put it back into the saucepan with grated cheese. It is served when the cheese is melted, but not hardened. We call this macaroni au gratin, but au gratin dishes proper are scalloped ones including bread or cracker crumbs as well as cheese.

Baked Macaroni and Cheese.—Take about one-half as much macaroni as will fill the baking dish. Break into short pieces and boil for twenty minutes in salted water. Drain. Put into a baking dish with butter, salt and a quantity of cheese. Cover with milk and bake until the milk is absorbed and it is brown on top.

Cheese canapés are small slices of bread fried in a little butter until golden brown. Then they are covered with grated cheese, seasoned with salt and pepper and placed in the oven to soften the cheese. Some add a little French mustard to the cheese to give it piquancy.

Cottage cheese is becoming more and more popular for salads at dinner affairs. It lends itself to any decorative scheme so nicely. It is delicious and cooling to the palate. The simplest way to arrange this salad is to moisten with French dressing and make it into balls or egg-shape and arrange in crisp lettuce leaves. With a little green vegetable coloring extract the balls of cheese may be delicately tinted to resemble birds' eggs. Cottage cheese lends itself to many combinations of chopped nuts, chopped olives, green or red peppers. It will mix with French dressing or mayonnaise and can be molded into any desired shape. It is a nice accompaniment to a fruit salad or is a salad in itself.

Noodles With Ham.

Grease a pudding dish well with fat or butter, place in the dish a layer of ham chopped very fine, then one of cooked noodles until the dish is full, leaving for the top a layer of ham. Then pour a cupful of cream over it. Bake in the oven for thirty minutes. To make the noodles for the above, break one egg into a bowl and stir in enough sifted flour to make a stiff dough and add one-quarter teaspoonful of salt. Knead it until it is dry. Divide it into two pieces, roll each piece until very thin and let them dry in a cloth. When dry roll them up like a jelly roll and slice into pieces one-half inch wide. Then unroll them and let dry. These can be kept for some time in a covered bottle. If they are wanted for soup they must be cut very fine.

Russian Steak Pudding.

A rather stiff paste of two pounds of flour, one and a quarter pounds chopped fat of kidney of beef, and one-quarter pint of water is made. When mixed, this is rolled out to a round layer, a quarter-inch thick and put in a buttered pudding dish. The lean beef is cut in pieces and arranged in the basin in layers. Cover with water, and put layer of paste over top.

The seasoning must be carefully done, salt, red pepper, butter and a curious Russian spice is used by the dancer. Wrap the pudding dish in a buttered cloth and place it in a saucepan of boiling water. Cook it for three hours if the beef is tender, and for four hours if not.

Orange Sherbet Cake.

Hollow out a loaf of angel cake, leaving a rim about an inch deep. Fill the center with orange sherbet, and grate orange peel over the top. Of course this sherbet must be kept in the freezer until just the time of serving, and be put in the cake just as it is taken to the table; otherwise it would be melted.—Harper's Bazar.

Baked Squash.

Put a layer of thick slices of summer squash into a baking dish which has been nicely buttered, then salt and pepper and dot over with pieces of butter and continue layers until the dish is full. Cover and bake two and one-half hours.

Caramelized Peaches.

Peel six peaches, put into the oven, cover with three tablespoonful sugar and just enough water to keep them from burning. Cook for five or six hours in a slow oven.

Milk in Mustard.

If milk is used instead of water when mixing mustard for the table, it will look fresh for several days.

Letters of Appeal to the President.

Madame Bakmeteff, who has sent the following letter to the President, is an American and the wife of the Russian ambassador at Washington. She spent many years in Greece and Bulgaria and has been asked to represent their Red Cross societies here.

"November 6, 1912.
To His Excellency, President Taft,
President, American Red Cross,
Washington, D. C.

"Dear Mr. President—In addition to the general appeal to the American people which you are sending out to alleviate the sufferings caused by the war in the Balkans I should like to state that I have received a cable from the Queen of Greece saying that the need is great and increasing and asking me to send directly to her all the aid I can gather. I also represent the Bulgarian Red Cross and am informed from there that conditions are equally terrible and that the need of assistance is most urgent.

"The rigorous Balkanic winter is closing in upon the poor, unprepared people and thousands of sick and wounded may die for want of a little help. Hospital supplies, clothing, and many other things are greatly needed. I have lived many years both in Greece and in Bulgaria and have assisted at many scenes of hardship and suffering and know by experience that such appeals coming from there can not be exaggerated and demand a quick answer and I devoutly pray that they find an echo in all Christian hearts. Any contributions that may be sent to me I will forward directly to their destination through the American Red Cross with the names of the charitable contributors who can designate, if they wish, the country they want to assist whether it be Greece or Bulgaria.

"Yours most sincerely,

"MARIE BAKMETEFF"

Madame Slavko Grouitch, whose letter to the President follows, is an American by birth and wife of the Serbian minister in London. Before her marriage having been a student at Athens and Constantinople in archaeology, Madame Grouitch has seen the Balkan situation from many points of view and realizes how greatly this aid is needed.

"November 6, 1912.
To His Excellency President Taft,
President, American Red Cross,
Washington, D. C.

"Dear Mr. President—Having been charged with the mission to represent the Serbian Red Cross, it is my duty to appeal to you, as the honored president of the American Red Cross, for aid in meeting the overwhelming need of our Red Cross, brought about by the present war.

"The Serbian Red Cross, one of the earliest established societies, is exceedingly efficient and well-organized. Our society has rendered aid at home and abroad, in many wars and catastrophes that have occasioned suffering to helpless people. Only lately it sent a generous donation to the Red Crescent Society of Turkey for the relief of the suffering from the earthquake on the Bosphorus. But no organization however efficient can meet the terrible demands that war brings upon it. With three million inhabitants, Serbia has put an army of 300,000 in the field, all of whom since the 17th of October have been engaged in almost daily battle which have cost not only many lives, but whose other victims, thousands of wounded, lie in our hospitals, while large numbers of the sick and wounded prisoners require and will receive the same treatment accorded to our own troops.

"Suffering will be greatly increased when the Balkan winter, with its heavy snows and bitter winds, sets in, as I will in a few weeks. There is not an able-bodied man in Serbia who has not offered himself for service in the field. Our women, young and old, are working for the Red Cross, but with

DAINTIES FOR SUPPER

LIGHT AND AT THE SAME TIME SUFFICIENTLY NUTRITIVE.

Rice With Oranges Will Be Appreciated, or Rice With Fried Bananas and Poached Eggs—To Prepare Spanish Beans.

Rice and Oranges.—Have a dish of hot plain boiled rice. Slice some oranges. Put a tablespoon of rice on a plate, garnish with a few slices of orange and pour over sauce made in the following manner: Melt one cup of butter over a slow flame and add one tablespoon of brandy, marshmallow or even a little grape juice if it is for children.

Lightning Cake.—Break two eggs in a large measuring cup, add three tablespoons of melted butter and fill up the cup with milk. Sift one and one-half cups of flour, one scant cup of sugar, a pinch of salt and two heaping teaspoons of baking powder. Pour liquids into dry ingredients, beat well and bake in a moderately hot oven until done. Test with a broom straw. This cake recipe can be used as a layer cake, as a loaf cake or baked in small tins. A measuring cup holds two medium sized cups.

Rice, Fried Bananas and Poached Eggs.—One cup of well washed rice and three cups of milk or water. Cook for one hour in a double boiler with half a teaspoon of salt. Fry five bananas and some slices of bacon (if usually fry two slices apiece). Poach five eggs in milk or water. Arrange rice on platter, carefully lift eggs and lay on rice and then put bacon and bananas around the eggs. This is a delicious and appetizing dish. I usually serve a crisp salad afterward.

Apple Salad.—Slice firm tart apples (Newtown pippins are fine); slice some oranges. Pour over some salad dressing and toss lightly on a plate of crisp lettuce.

Dressing.—Two tablespoons of vinegar, add one teaspoon of salt and two teaspoons of sugar and one teaspoon of burnt onion juice; then pour into this slowly one cup of olive oil. This is a fine dressing for any fruit or vegetable salad.

Spanish Beans.—Soak two cups of Spanish beans (the large pink ones) over night. In the morning drain the water off thoroughly. Chop fine two large onions and fry in a pan until brown; add beans and cook about ten minutes, watching carefully. Pour over these one can of tomatoes and a heaping teaspoon of salt; add two bell peppers if desired. Cook slowly until tender, adding water as needed. Requires about three hours' cooking. At serving time put in a baking dish cover well with grated cheese and brown in hot oven. A piece of salt pork may be added if desired, and I usually serve brown bread also. This dish of beans is good topped off with a lettuce salad or a cold boiled artichoke with mayonnaise dressing.

Beef and Lamb Croquettes. One cup cold meat, three-quarters cup boiled potato, one small onion two sprays of parsley, put all through chopper; then melt two tablespoons butter and mix well with it two tablespoons flour; add when well blended one cup of milk, a little at a time, until sauce is good and thick; add to sauce other ingredients, salt and pepper to taste, and a pinch of sage or poultry dressing. Mix all together and set aside to cool. Shape into small cones or balls; be sure not to have them too large. Then roll in bread crumbs; then into the white of an egg which should have one tablespoon of water beaten into it slightly; then in to crumbs again, and then set aside until meal time. Fry in deep fat until well browned, turning over all the time. Try fat with small piece of bread and if it will brown while you count 45 it is ready. Cook four croquettes at a time.

Tomato Omelet. Peel two large tomatoes and cut in pieces. Cook slowly with one-third level teaspoonful of salt, and a few grains of red pepper. Beat separately the yolks and whites of three eggs; mix and season with a pinch of salt and a very little pepper. Melt a rounded teaspoonful of butter in a pan, turn in the eggs, and as they begin to set lay the tomato around the top. Finish cooking, turn and serve with a parsley garnish.

Uncle Sam is a Fan. To provide more room for crowds at the local baseball park the federal government has ordered condemnation and razing of buildings covering a half square.

Baby Cry Not Music. "A baby cry" is not music, according to the treasury department. In pronouncing this verdict, the government put the baby cry on the same plane as "the sound of a pistol shot, the jingle of sleigh bells and the noise of tin whistles and duck calls."

The question came up on a protest of Carl Fisher, a New York importer, that the New York customs house shall not assess small wooden whistles, known as "baby cries," at a 45 per cent ad valorem duty as for musical instruments, but at 35 per cent as manufactured articles, chiefly valuable as wood. His contention was sustained. The whistles are used in orchestras and moving picture shows.

Nietzsche. Nietzsche's sister has written his biography and from all accounts it is a rather remarkable work. Frau Forster-Nietzsche, his sister, brother, and it is to be believed and hoped that she understood him better than anybody else did. Certainly no one else ever looked so lightly on Nietzsche's diatribes. "Perhaps the deepest love sees truest." The amazing part is that it should be a woman who has paid such a tribute to a man who certainly said as brutal things about the sex as were ever said by any one. Can we have misunderstood him, the strange Nietzsche?

He draws $40 a month for "winding and regulating," and "extras" for trips to the "hospital." In addition, he has built up quite a nice little practice among senators, supreme court justices, secretaries, clerks and stenographers. He, more than any other, keeps the wheels of congress moving in time. These semi-weekly trips of his to the capitol are made on Tuesdays and Fridays, although when congress is in session, he's there looking at the clocks in the senate chamber every morning.

"These janitors are careless," he explains, "and they wouldn't care if they knocked two or three seconds off those clocks when they were dusting. Then I'd get the blame." Walter doesn't depend on any one else to give him the right time. He has a watch that he made himself and he would throw it away if it lost a second a year.

Walter draws from $1.50 to $5 a month for keeping the timepieces of many members of Washington's smart set on the straight and narrow path.

"I don't care very much about this work for wealthy people," says Walter. "They're too finicky. Everything has got to be to their convenience. They set definite hours for me to come and when I go there, they've got company and I have to make another trip. Then there's the head butler and the chief housekeeper to reckon with. They're generally more stuck up than their masters and mistresses, and they cause you a lot of trouble. One place I go a housekeeper, six chambermaids and two lady's maids are employed. They all have clocks and I have to wind them. Occasionally I come across some wealthy person—I am usually a diplomat—who has good common sense. At one home, I don't make any difference if they're having a banquet, they tell me to come right in, wind the clocks and go about my business. If they were all like that I wouldn't mind millions."

These semi-weekly trips of his to the capitol are made on Tuesdays and Fridays, although when congress is in session, he's there looking at the clocks in the senate chamber every morning.

"These janitors are careless," he explains, "and they wouldn't care if they knocked two or three seconds off those clocks when they were dusting. Then I'd get the blame." Walter doesn't depend on any one else to give him the right time. He has a watch that he made himself and he would throw it away if it lost a second a year.

Walter draws from $1.50 to $5 a month for keeping the timepieces of many members of Washington's smart set on the straight and narrow path.

"I don't care very much about this work for wealthy people," says Walter. "They're too finicky. Everything has got to be to their convenience. They set definite hours for me to come and when I go there, they've got company and I have to make another trip. Then there's the head butler and the chief housekeeper to reckon with. They're generally more stuck up than their masters and mistresses, and they cause you a lot of trouble. One place I go a housekeeper, six chambermaids and two lady's maids are employed. They all have clocks and I have to wind them. Occasionally I come across some wealthy person—I am usually a diplomat—who has good common sense. At one home, I don't make any difference if they're having a banquet, they tell me to come right in, wind the clocks and go about my business. If they were all like that I wouldn't mind millions."

Walter Starts on his rounds. armed with a bunch of a hundred or so clock keys in one hand and an equal number of cumbersome door keys in the other. He keeps a close eye on each clock. The minute it shows signs of an indisposition—a run-down feeling as it were—he takes it to his clock hospital, tones it up, and puts it back in shape. He draws $40 a month for "winding and regulating," and "extras" for trips to the "hospital." In addition, he has built up quite a nice little practice among senators, supreme court justices, secretaries, clerks and stenographers. He, more than any other, keeps the wheels of congress moving in time. These semi-weekly trips of his to the capitol are made on Tuesdays and Fridays, although when congress is in session, he's there looking at the clocks in the senate chamber every morning.

WINDS MANY CLOCKS

KEEPS ON LOOKOUT FOR RUN-DOWN TIMEPIECES.

Washington Man Who Looks After the Clocks of the United States Senate, the Supreme Court, and Sundry Capital Millionaires.

A. Walter winds 400 clocks a week. A. Walter has the contract to keep the timepieces of the United States senate and the supreme court in perfect working order. In addition, A. Walter performs the same services in the District of Columbia court house, the Bank of Washington and in the homes of numerous and sundry millionaires in Washington. Incidentally, A. Walter has the clock and watch winding art down to a T.

Many years ago A. Walter was born in Germany. He apprenticed himself to a watchmaker, boarding and clothing himself and paying the watchmaker for the privilege of being taught. He kept this up for three years until he had learned all there was to know about the tick. Then he came to Washington. For the last seven years he has made the rounds of the senate and supreme court clocks twice a week. When the senate office building was completed it was added to his route.

Walter starts on his rounds, armed with a bunch of a hundred or so clock keys in one hand and an equal number of cumbersome door keys in the other. He keeps a close eye on each clock. # KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS OPENS THREE NIGHT'S FAIR

Large Crowd Present and Something Doing All the Time.

Portsmouth Council Knights of Columbus on Wednesday evening opened their three night fair at Freeman's Hall and with every prospect of making it a great success. The opening was attended by a large crowd, although the weather was not at all favorable and the crowd were buying freely, so that it opened well from a financial standpoint.
The fair is to extend over three nights and a matinee today, and the proceeds will go toward their Home "fun", so that every member of the Knights is doing a grand hustle, and they are receiving gallant assistance from the Ladies Auxiliary and their friends.
The hall looks very handsome. The prevailing colors are those of the Knights, purple and white, and they are used very effectively. The picture of Christopher Columbus is also conspicuous about the hall.
The booths arranged around the hall are uniform, the decorations being very artistic, at the end of the hall is a large arbor with white lilies as the chief decoration and this is devoted to the sale of ice cream and soft drinks, etc.
The booths are devoted to the sale of various articles. There is the time honored fish pond, candy wheel, fancy goods, home made candies and the most popular of last evening was a wheel for the display of truly handsome white dogs with wonderful flowing manes.
The stage was artistically decorated and the picture of Columbus had a prominent place in this.
The fair was formally opened by Mayor D. W. Badger, who was introduced by District Deputy Grand Knight Thomas Henry. Mayor Badger made but a brief speech, in which he wished the Knights the greatest success.
The K. of C. Orchestra furnished music during the evening and an entertainment consisting of a dance by Little Alice Mc Williams, a solo by John C. Dolan, and a piano solo by Edward Lamonde.
From ten until 11 o'clock there was dancing and there were a large number of young people on the floor. Dancing will be a feature of the fair each evening.
The officers of the fair and the ladies who are rendering such valuable assistance are as follows:
In charge—Mrs. T. A. Henry, Mrs. Mary Murphy.
General booth—Mrs. E. A. Fagan, Miss Frances Flynn, Mrs. William McEvoy, Miss Josie Lyons, Mrs. F. W. Wearin, Mrs. James Whitman.
